AM I COVERED?

IMPORTANT THINGS TO CONSIDER FOR OUR AUTOMOBILE CUSTOMERS

- ◆ Your policy provides $10,000 of Medical Payments coverage. It covers doctor, hospital and funeral expenses for you and/or your passengers that result from an accident, regardless of who is at fault. For a reasonable, additional premium the limit can be increased.
- ◆ If you purchase or lease a new vehicle there is a schedule in that agreement that outlines the declining value of the vehicle for your obligation or responsibility should something happen to the vehicle. There is a time period that occurs within the first couple of years where the actual depreciated value of the vehicle will likely be less than your obligation under the loan or lease contract. The insurance company will only pay the actual depreciated value of the vehicle in the event of a total loss. A loan/lease gap endorsement can be added to your policy that protects you for this gap in coverage.
- ◆ The physical damage coverage in your policy on your vehicles provides protection based on how the vehicle came originally from the factory or manufacturer. If you customize the vehicle or install additional equipment, the policy will not provide protection unless that equipment is specifically described as part of the value of the vehicle. This is particularly true for vans and pickups and would include things like interior furnishings in vans and toppers or covers for pickups. This could also include non-factory installed sound systems.
